NFPA 70E Compliance Audit

NFPA 70E is the recognized U.S. standard for electrical safety practices in the workplace. The compliance audit includes a thorough review of all aspects of electrical safety, from written policies to work practices in action. It can help jump-start the implementation of an electrical safety program, find gaps in existing work practices, identify areas requiring additional training, as well as reinforce policies that are working well.

This audit program is designed for companies with up to 500 employees. Many clients choose a full audit every 3-5 years and use an internal auditing process annually to follow NFPA 70E and OSHA electrical safety requirements.

In addition to NFPA 70E, we can use a company's current auditing software (SAP, PeopleSoft, Oracle, etc.) to streamline the process.

What to Expect

One of our professional team members will visit the facility, interview key personnel and do an extensive walk-through following specific protocols. The information gathered in the audit establishes a baseline for measuring improvement. Results of the audit provide a plan for improving compliance.

IN ADVANCE of VISIT

(minimum 1 WEEK prior)

Submit for reference and review:

- Company/Site Electrical Safety Program
- Lockout/Tagout Procedures
- Switch Procedures
- Energized Electrical Work Permit Policies

SITE VISIT

During the site visit, an e-Hazard electrical safety expert will:

- Conduct a facility review
- Observe and evaluate electrical safety practices using 70E requirements and company policies as the measure
- Evaluate PPE polices, equipment and usage
- Conduct interviews with key electrical workers, supervisors and managers
- Conduct a Management Audit
- Review annual supervisory inspection procedures
- Take photos, if requested

OUTCOME

e-Hazard will provide a written Audit Report that includes:

- Results of the site visit, interviews, etc.
- Findings related to the reviewed policies
- Recommendations to improve electrical safety measures
