

Chris Page

Electrical Safety Consultant

Chris Page operates JMA Training Group in Ontario, CAN, where he has developed and delivered electrical safety training for Toyota Motor Manufacturing's major manufacturing divisions in the U.S. and CAN. He has been an electrical safety instructor and workshop leader for the Canadian Standards Association since 2008. For 32 years, he worked for ArcelorMittal Dofasco in a number of leadership and training capacities. He also created their Electrical Awareness Course and established the Electrical Standards Committee. Chris was a member of the Engineering Technology faculty at Mohawk College of Applied Arts and Technology.

Career Highlights

e-Hazard 2020-Present
Electrical Safety Consultant

JMA Training Group Inc. 2007-Present
President and Owner
Ontario, Canada

- Electrical safety training and consulting for Toyota Motor Manufacturing in North America at all manufacturing divisions in the U.S. and Canada
- ESP development

Toyota Motor Manufacturing, N.A. 2010-Present
Electrical Safety Instructor & Workshop Leader

- Works with multiple clients to provide company-specific training sessions

Canadian Standards Association (CSA) 2008- Present
Electrical Safety Instructor & Workshop Leader

- Instructor and workshop leader for the Workplace Electrical Safety Workshop, based on CSA Z462 Workplace Electrical Safety Standard
- Assisted with Schneider Electric, Canada, to develop the workshop, delivered to several companies across Canada and in CSA open-registration settings

ArcelorMittal Dofasco, (AMD) 1997- 2008
Licensed Industrial Electrician, Construction and Maintenance

- Electrician, group and team leader, electrical skills trainer, electrical safety trainer, and corporate human resources maintenance training coordinator
- Produced and delivered the Electrical Awareness Course for corporate AMD

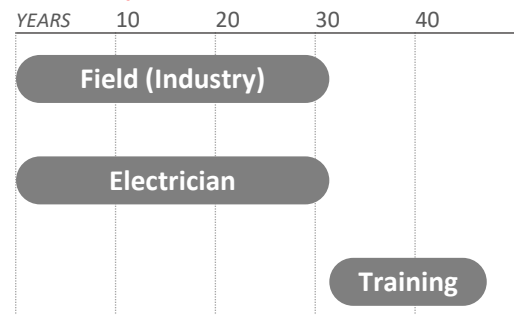

Snapshot

Focus

TRAINING

- Low Voltage
- High Voltage
- Electric Vehicle (EV)
- Customized

Career Experience Timeline

Education & Certifications

McMaster University, Hamilton, ON B.S., Human Resources Management

Mohawk College, Hamilton, ON B.S., Electrical Systems Technology

Licenses & Professional Memberships

Engineer Technology Faculty, Member

AMD Electrical Standards Committee, Founding Member